PUBLIC MEETINGS.

The Committee on Lands and Places, from the Board of Councilmen, held a meeting in the Council hearing parties in relation to diminishing or altering the dimensions of the Central Park—the particulars TRIBUNE. Present-Councilmen David Coleman, Chairman

Alfred Brush, Wm. Floyd and F. Preutiss.

Mr. C. M. K. Paulison was opposed to any curtailment of the Park, and thought that the subject had been sufficiently discussed, and hoped that the sgitation would cease, and the Park, as it was, adopted. This was to be a People's Park, and New-York needed it.

Mr. John P. Paulison could not see the necessity of keeping the subject open any longer. He thought that the insjerity of the people fully understood it, and were opposed to any curtailment of the grounds, considering that every inch of the land was desirable. There was another reason why the subject at issue should be immediately settled. The holders of property in the vicinity of the Park, did not know what to do: their property was not available in any way, because this question was upsettled. They could not sell, neither could they, with any safety, make improvements, the property thus remaining a dead letter. Mr Goodwin, in a speech of considerable length.

Mr Goodwin, in a speech of considerable length, set forth the advantages that the people would derive from this Park, and protested against the grounds being curtailed or altered, for the benefit of property-helders, at the experse of the people. He alluded to the parks of London and Paris, and thought that large parks were indispersable in large cities.

Mr A. W. Spriss thought there did not exist, in New York the same necessity for large parks as in London and Paris the part of the people. He was in favor however, if we were both inland cities, while New-York lies, as it were, on the sea, surrounded by immense bodies of ever living water. He was in favor however, if we were to have this proposed Park, of having the matter settled at once, that not only those who were pecuniarily interested might know what to do, but that the minds of the people may be set at rest. He was opposed to the Park altogether; but if we were to have it, let us have it as large as possible. It would be easy to diminish it if found too large.

Mr C M. K. Paulisov said that, with the content of the Committee, he would like to offer a set of resolutions in favor of the Park as at first proposed, without any curtailment, upon which he would like an expression of the present meeting.

The CHAIRMAN of the Committee thought that any such expression would not only be out of order, but highly improper. He thought, too, that it was entirely unnecessary, as the persons present appeared to be almost unanimously opposed to any curtailment of the proposed Park. He considered the only duty of the Committee to be to hear the arguments, pro and con, that they might the better make an intelligent report on the subject.

Several gentlemen gave their views upon the subject the most of whom were in favor of the lower line of the Park being Fifty, minth-st. A few opposed the Park altegether, but all seemed to desire that the question should be settled at once, and the limits of the grounds prescribed.

This was the final meeting of the Committee f

REDUCTION OF RAILROAD FARE.

On Wednesday afternoon a meeting of the Com-mittee on Railroads of the Board of Councilmen was held in the City Hall, for the purpose of considering the propriety of reducing the rates of fare on the City raihoads.

A gentleman, whose name we did not ascertain, from Harlem, remarked that he had removed to that place with the understanding that the Fourth and Second-av. Railroads would commute, but these roads had refused their regular patrons such a privilege, and it cost him $75 a year for his car fare. O #ing to this enormous tax, a poor man was unable to go to Harlem, and the con ing to this enormous tax, a poor man was unable to go to Harlem, and the consequence was, the poorer classes were driven to Brooklyn, Williamsburgh, or kept down town. He thought this was detrimental to the interests of New-York. The Company should commute for about $25, as, by so doing, they would benefit themselves and the community at large.

Mr. Fasshaw, of Yorkville, concurred with the gretteman who bad just spaken relative to the Fourth and Second-av. Radiroada. He accused the Directors of these roads of being an aristocratic set, and said they would pay to attention to the complaints of plebeians. The people hoped to obtain from this Committee a demand upon these roads to run to Eighty first-ist for cj cents, as they were of opinion that this rate would pay them a good interest.

Mr. VANCE, living at Yorkville or thereabout, read a lengthy document to the Committee, being the complaint of a public meeting of the citizens of Yorkville, setting forth their grievances in full against the Second-av., Third-av. and Harlem Railroads. The document set forth that the rates of travel were considerably too bigh, and the citizens objected to changing cars at Sixty first at. This change was very inconvenient and ought to be remedied. The paper or cluded by suggesting that three cents should be the regular charge to Harlem, and on and after the first of May the cars abould run direct from the City Hall without stopping to change at Sixty first at.

Mr. Godwin read a very lengthy paper, in the shape of an address to the Committee, estting forth, in detail, the grievances of the residents of Yorkville, Harlem and the cutakirts of New York, who were compelled to travel over the Second and Third-av. Railroads in Jondon, showing that there rates were cheaper than here, and they realized a much larger income. He though that hard-working peopleshould not be made to pay so great a tax as those blessed with riches.

One of the stockholders of the Sixth-av. Road contended that they could not afford to run their cars at not be made to pay so great a tax as those blessed with riches.

One of the stockholders of the Sixth-av. Road contenced that they could not afford to run their cars at a lower rate than they now charged. The reduction of the present rate would prove very disastrous to the road.

One or two other gentlemen next spoke in favor of the reduction of the rate, after which the Committee acjourned till next Wednesday at 3 o'clock P. M.

A motion was then made to adopt the resolution to appropriate $31,800, but was lost by a vote of 13 Yeas, 17 Nays.

Commissioners Phillips, A. H. Green, Fellows and Demke were opposed to the appropriation of $31,800, and spoke to that effect on the ground of the inadequecy of the funds at the disposal of the Board.
